

5 Cutting-Edge Phone Features that WILL increase productivity

Link all your remote locations

Create one communication hub for seamless transfers and fewer dropped calls!
(Is there anything more frustrating?)

Is there anything more frustrating than losing an important call right in the middle of a big sale? Or trying to deal with an angry customer and then DROPPING their call so they are twice as irate when you talk to them again? Better customer service means more money in your pocket – Fewer perks handed out to dissatisfied clients and more sales completed with style and ease!

Integrate your phone system with your email

So you can easily click to dial right from your laptop!

When a client sends you an important email, “click to dial” functionality saves you a few valuable seconds with each call. That can add up to a lot of extra productivity over time!

Keep your phone storage free and your calls organized

A “voice to email” system sends your phone messages to your email in easy-to-use audio files.

Organize and keep your messages in easy-to-find folders for recordkeeping. Review old messages any time you have a question.

Run your phone system through your internet connection

And save thousands on your phone bills each year!

Why pay for a phone line that only does one thing? Using your internet connection for your phone lines is just good business.

Enhance your professional image

Link telecommuting employees' phones to your business line.

Your company might be small, but you can make a big impression with a professional telephone setup. Move your calls from your receptionist to employees out in the field quickly, and eliminate the lead loss that happens between “leaving a message” and getting a call back.
